STAT

1. As long as the proposed Bill allows the Agency to handle its unique pay situations with adequate flexibility, I see no great hurdle.

STAT

2. While this writer is not an attorney, it would seem a legal challenge is inevitable should the Bill become Law. It would appear the Bill dictates that every employee of the Federal Government have a banking address or financial institution to which an Electronic Fund Transfer (EFT) may be directed.
While in this age it's difficult to imagine doing without such a service, there are most certainly few employees here and in other Agencies that for whatever reason do not have and do not wish to open accounts.
